Taking advantage of the beautiful

Taking advantage of the beautiful weather of yesterday many of the large fleet of pleasure craft owned here were out for runs on the river. At the boathouse it was estimated that fully 300 boats, with their owners and friends aboard, had left port for pleasure trips. Yesterday afternoon shortly before sundown motor boats returning to this city could be seen from the Alexandria wharves in a continuous procession to Fort Washington and above Alexandria to this city.

In consequence of the coid nights practically the entire fleet of boats were in their berths soon after nightfall. With the coming of the cold winds of the fall, expected in the latter part of this month, the owners of pleasure craft will arrange for putting their boats in winter quarters, and by the middle of November only those that will be kept in service throughout the winter will be in commission.
